My PowerPoint slides for the RSA Conference 2011

Matt Blaze
University of Pennsylvania
I’m not using PowerPoint in my presentation.

• I hate PowerPoint
  – I avoid using it whenever possible
  – It is usually a terrible way to convey information.
    • ... and they presumably invited me to speak because they think I’m good at conveying information
• But the conference organizers just sent me email “reminding” me that sending a PowerPoint presentation “... is a contractual requirement for speakers this year.”
  – what contract is that?
  – they’re not even paying me for this.
    • and even if they were, I’d never agree to such an idiotic provision.
  – what, I must wonder, is wrong with these people?
    • (above question is rhetorical and does not require an answer)
• But if you insist, here you are.
End of PowerPoint Presentation for RSA-2011

Matt Blaze
University of Pennsylvania